Litchfield Land Trust Announces New Staff

New administrative personnel for the Litchfield Land Trust were announced by President John Markelon. They are Kim Fischer, Administrative Office Manager and Dean Birdsall, Director. Both will oversee and support the work of the Board and Trustees in their mission of Conserving and Protecting Land. Forever.

Kim Fischer is a lifelong resident of Litchfield and says she has “a passion for keeping the beauty of the land in Litchfield.”

Dean Birdsall has been a board member and now assumes a new role as Director. Dean commented, “Strategic, long term land stewardship is a treasured gift for all of us and for generations to follow. I’m grateful for our Litchfield Land Trust and proud to be part of the good work they do.”

Kim Fischer, Dean Birdsall and the Litchfield Land Trust Board and Volunteers will be on hand for the September 9 Sunset Party Fundraiser at Bunnell Farm. Visit LitchfieldLandTrust.org or contact info@LitchfieldLandTrust.org for more information.

Russell St. Renovations underway

We are excited for the first phase of renovation begun this July for the future home of the Land Trust. Great effort is being made by the demolition crew to get the space down to the bare studs. This is readying the place for the new while doing our best to preserve the past of this historic building. It once served as the train station on Russell Street and had various other occupants over the years.

We are grateful for the gift of this structure from Peter and Susan Aziz and are honored to be stewards, giving care to make it a beautiful building once again.

This exciting project will require significant capital. Any donations are appreciated!
